Editorial Comment

There has been a delay in sending this bulletin out owing to a reduction in the editorial team!!

It is noticeable from reports received from the principle contributing counties/police forces that incidents of equine related crime are on the increase.

This could be the result of the change of season and the onset of evenings drawing in, the credit crunch or just the fact that regrettably there are always dishonest people out there who want to take property belonging to others!

The actual increase in equine crime figures are not enough to register a worry on the Governments radar or influence a major change or shift in policing practices...BUT the increase should and must worry YOU because YOU could be the next victim.

The nagging theme of "it is your responsibility to take up crime prevention measures" remains the same. For advice ask your local police crime prevention officer to attend your premises.

Even if you just do the simple things, like tack marking, postcode ALL your property, improve yard lighting, these may stop you being a victim of crime.

All the Bulletin contributing police forces echo the same warning and advice of taking on crime prevention and vigilance.

It is again a good time to remind you of the national Policing Pledge, which most if not all police forces have signed up to. For Hampshire residents the Pledge can be found on www.hampshire.police.uk. Other residents should go to their respective police force web site. In the main, all police forces reiterate the same message.

Whether you are the victim of a crime or not you should be aware of what the police service subscribes to do to help or assist you.

The pledge sets out to tell communities what the police will do for them.

Although there are the continuous reports of theft and damage there are occasional SUCCESS stories.....

Many readers, through other networks and circulations will have been aware of 11 donkeys stolen within the Thames Valley police area very recently.

The good news is that 9 of the donkeys have been recovered. The recovery was the result of concerted effort and co-operation by police in Thames Valley and Hertfordshire, Thames Valley Horsewatch, other organisations and individuals.

Two donkeys, yearling jennies, are still outstanding. Their descriptions are given below:-

1. Ruby. 11 hands high, dark chestnut/brown in colour, black front legs, bilateral stifle whorls
2. Jill. 11 hands high. Brownish grey colouring, with a pale belly. She has a shaggy coat. She has no dorsal stripe or shoulder cross.

Both donkeys are micro chipped

Your attention is requested to be paid to donkeys in fields or other locations especially when they haven't been seen there before.

Should you have any information which may lead to the recovery of these two donkeys please contact Thames Valley Police Telephone: 0845 8505505 or call anonymously Crime Stoppers 0800 555 111

The donkeys recovered were micro chipped and this assisted in their identification.

The recovery of the donkeys once again demonstrates the opportunities and potential of identifying stolen property and returning it to the owner through unique marking. On this occasion, it was micro chipping. Post coding, freeze marking, Smartwater are some other methods that can be used.

If every horse owner uniquely identified their property then the opportunities currently afforded to thieves, handlers of stolen property would be greatly reduced.

It may also make buyers of second hand tack etc think twice before buying what may be stolen property.

Crime Prevention is in your hands. Crime Prevention starts with YOU.

Farm Watch 6 10 09

Has anyone had a blue diesel bowser on a trailer stolen recently that you have not reported?

One has been discovered in a members field, less the diesel. There are also some worn crop lifters from a John Deere combine harvester.

The bowser could have been there some time.

The only bowser I can see stolen recently was a white one with signage on the side but this does not match up with this one.

It has been recovered in the Dorchester area but could have been stolen from anywhere.

Please let me know if anyone has mentioned theirs has been taken but not reported it. Or reported it and I cannot match it up perhaps because the "bowser" is not on the crime.

I have a report of a walk in burglary discovered to an isolated farm house in Bowood (or North Bowood) Bridport discovered 5 Oct. The rear door had been left insecure overnight. A mobile phone, 2 rings, cash and milk were stolen from the kitchen area.

Good News

The Sinclair Trailer reported stolen this morning has been found - it had been abandoned in a lay-by between Soham & Burwell.

It is believed that it could have been used in crime so is being checked over by Scenes of Crimes Officers - it has however been returned to it's owner.

It just shows that by making your trailer distinctive it not only makes it unattractive to be caught with - but it also makes it easier for Police to return it to it's rightful owner.

Kind regards,

Lydia
